*We dedicate this work to our former Principal Mr. Kenneth
Mc Caffery— a person who has occupied a special place in the hearts of every one of us...*

AKS what comes to mind when you first think of a school with a small number of students. You find generosity, you find friendliness and you find a great environment. Our school is a great school which has over 150 schools around the world. The AKS in Dhaka maybe not be as beautiful as the Aga Khan Schools around the world, but it is as great or even better than the others in question.

The school has a famous basketball team, with a bunch of young stars who are the centre of attraction in our school. Basketball is a priority and it gets the attention needed from the students. With chants and shouts the spectators encourage the teams. It is a great environment, and people have to see it to believe it. Soccer gets priority too, with IX-I and IX-II showing their skills in the field and giving us a great match to watch. The centre stage is brilliant and it is marvellous to watch. Sports is a priority and like all other schools AKS enjoys it.

The school also does not lack in talent. It has bands, it has Rabindra Sangeet singers, it has guitarists, who sit in ECA singing the songs they like, while others enjoy their music. And when the time comes for a show they make it delightful with songs which are familiar to us. Bands are an attraction in our school and they set the pace in music.

Last but not least the students. The students are a great bunch. AKS is like a small town where everyone knows everyone. The environment is great and the people are beautiful and that is AKS in one shot .

SOCIAL WELFARE

Last year Bangladesh faced a drastic flood. Millions of people suffered all over the country. The fields and streets of the city and countryside were flooded. There was food shortage all over the country and little supply of the food caused inflation in the country where the price of food shot up and it was unaffordable for the less fortunate people of our country. Not only this, but the people were also short of clothing. They had nothing warm to wear, and the climate of the country did not favour the poor people. The season was extremely cold and the people were freezing to death. Seeing this severe calamity AKS decided to donate food and clothing to the people of the country. Although we didn't distribute the relief material ourselves, we gave all the things to the Prime Minister who then distributed them. To donate our contribution our headboy Shafat and headgirl Tazin along with Nadia and Miss Ruhma went to the Prime Minister's office and presented her with the stuff. ONE PLUS POINT FOR AKS !!!

Principal's MESSAGE

As we look back on the year 1998 we can do so with a great about of pride. The spirit of AKS has been captured in the pages of this yearbook, and the yearbook committee under the leadership of Fuad Abdullah, Ahad Hossain and Nazmul Alam are to be congratulated for a job well done.

This was a significant year for us as we celebrated our 10th anniversary. We have many good memories of the past decade and wish to extend our thanks to present and past members of the Board for their continual support in helping to make AKS the school that it is today. For each individual member of our school community 1998 has some special memories. Keep them, treasure them, and in twenty years look back with pleasure. Your copy of this yearbook will help you do that.

To all of you, I wish for you to be the best that you can be. The future of this country lies in the hands of its youth. You have many challenges ahead and the teachers and myself take pleasure in watching you move towards this goal.

George G. Kays
Principal

Advisor's MESSAGE

I congratulate Class IX! At last, though a bit late, we have the yearbook "Reflections'98" ready. It is really an achievement. While they were busy with the layout and composition of the yearbook, the school authority was busy with extension and renovation of school. So they didn't get much space to gather around and work, nor did they get the computers and other facilities of school. Despite all of these, they have accomplished their work.

This year it was a real hassle with the funds. Thanks to Mrs. Nishat Hoque for the personal involvement in raising funds. Thanks to Class 6-1, 6-2, 7-1 & 8-2 and their class teachers Miss Muna, Mr. Imtiaz, Mr. Kamel and Mrs Zaman for their own way in helping the yearbook. Mrs. Rozina and Mrs. Nazli Bilquis, thanks for the correction tasks for the yearbook again. In the end I thank all those who physically and morally helped the yearbook staff in completing the big task. I hope you will love and relish the yearbook for years to come.

Fawzia Coudhury

It was a privilege for me to be the co-advisor of 1998 AKS yearbook. I think the yearbook portrays the creativity of class IX as a whole. So credit of its success goes to the yearbook staff.

The editor Fuad Abdullah and yearbook staff worked hard to accomplish the job and deserve special appreciation.

Thanks to my colleagues and students who were always cooperative and supportive.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

The official yearbook of AKS, 'Reflection', was first started as a book that would reflect the student's activities. It is made by the students and tells the story of the school and its activities. Since the first publication the later ones have been polished to near perfection and each one is better than the last. I hope my staff and I were able to do the same. I hope you would enjoy flipping through the colourful pages of this yearbook. It is one of the greatest marvels presented by the students of AKS. It is amazing what you can do with your talent. Sometimes I get scared of all the things that we can do. It is no big deal though. All you need is a little inspiration and a little courage of your own. The making of the yearbook came to us not as a burden but as a challenge, and I am sure that none of my staffs would regret having worked to achieve the ultimate goal.

It was a great honour for me to work as the yearbook editor. There are lots of responsibilities and lots of things to do. It was not an easy job but I had the chance to meet new people and persuade them into getting involved in a challenging job. It was a promising task and I am very excited to see the final product. I was happy to be a part of the great team who made this book and I am glad that I got involved in it.

I am very thankful to the principal for giving me the chance of a lifetime. Without his advice and co-operation it would have been impossible for me to work. His confidence in us is what has pushed us into believing that we have what it takes to succeed in publishing the book.

Last of all I would like to acknowledge my staff and advisors. They are the ones who made the book and I think the credit should go to them. I am just one of the dictators who sits on the top and orders them around. There were times when I didn't even give them instructions but I guess their hard work and dedication has paid off. I would feel guilty to accept the peers' applause without the staff by my side.

CO-EDITORS' MESSAGE

It's a project of one year. But it's not a project that says, "Do good and have marks." It's a lot of hard work and a lot more of fun. After a long period of work, this yearbook has come out. With the help of the advisors and more important, with the tremendous effort put behind this by the Yearbook Staff who have gone through a hectic period, this small book full of memories is here. We hope that this book will give the students of the Aga Khan School the contentment of seeing themselves at work in the year 1998 and will bring back sweet memories. We also hope to give others a reflection of what our school is. Congratulations to the yearbook staff of Reflections'98, and good luck to the upcoming yearbook and its committee.

Nazmul Alam
Co-Editor, Reflections'98

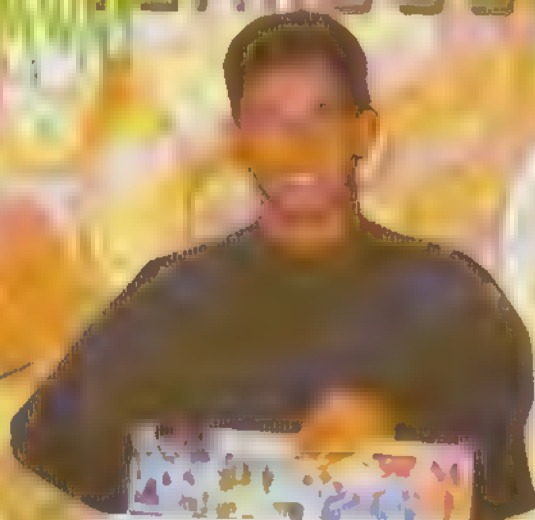

AKS is a wonderful and awesome place. Anyone who studies here will know it. The students of AKS have endless fun and laughter, and there is always something funny or sad going on in AKS. The activities of AKS are endless. The things that happen during all these activities are really special to all of us, and it's not easy capturing each and every moment, but we, the Yearbook Staff have tried our best to capture as much fun and excitement as possible. Although the yearbook took a lot of time in its making, but the fact is, "Good things require lots of time." So now you have the AKS yearbook, enjoy it, cherish it, be proud of it, show it off. This is Ahad, as the Co-Editor, signing off.

Ahad Hussain
Co-Editor, Reflections'98

Reflections '98 has been the result of a lot of hard work from the students and from the teachers who helped them to accomplish it. The time taken to produce it was all worthwhile. The yearbook staff would like to thank Mrs. Fauzia and Mrs. Zaman for their effort and hard work.

The year book members who put their hard work into this years accomplishments are: Fuad Abdullah, Ahad Hussain, Nazmul Alam, Farhad Husein, Mehzabin Ahmed, Kazi Mustabsher Ahmed, Shoikot Nath, Bariul Islam, Mushroofa Hossain, and many others who put their time and effort into this assignment. It was a pleasure working for a school which we are so proud of.

Eid Party & Talent Show

The Talent Show commemorating Eid-ul-Fitr in 1998 was an event that really reflected the talents in the AKS. It ranged from Band Music to a pretty uncanny WWF performance given by the students of Class IX. It also had the treat of some old time Bangla songs which reflected our culture, brought again by the free-spirited Mrs. Nargis with her troop of singers. The talent in the plays, and the talent in the dances are what totally set the talent show in flames. This is the show from a broader perspective and the picture it held was of AKS's profound talent.

Lets first start with the Fashion Show, in which Class Ten participated. All of them got together and although, not made for the catwalks of Milan, but still all of them had pulled off a great performance. The talents consisted of Basma, Sanjida, Farhana and among the guys were Asad, Zubair and Moos. The performances were great and the dresses they displayed were eye-catching. The people involved in it brought about a great presentation which deserves congratulations.

Secondly were the dramas, which were yet better than ever. The Dhakaiya adaptation of "The Merchant of Venice" appealed to many people. Not many people go for that "guys dress up as girls" act anymore. It was a great effort from class 8 to take up such a mode. The language adapted in the play did reflect the Dhakaiya accent, making the drama hilarious. Credit should be given to them for having the courage to bring out something new to the stage of AKS. There was another drama including the Class elevens which was even more successful and it presented humour at its right proportions and set the school laughing.

There were two special performances including the WWF performance and the eating competition. The WWF performance reflected good humour from the Class Nine students with the inclusion of the beeping sound covering the un-allowed language spoken but the timing had its flaws as it was unable to cover the sound of the word. The star-studded cast included 'Stone-Cold' Steve Austin, Shawn Michaels, Mike Tyson, Kane, The Undertaker along with his rather irritating former manager Paul Bairer. The people involved in the drama were: Imtiaz as Stone-Cold, Nazmul as Shawn Michaels, Fuad as Mike Tyson, Mustabsher as Kane, Wameq as the Undertaker and Nadith as Paul Bairer. The performance delivered what was asked for, giving a really good presentation. It gave students which comprised a few WWF fanatics a treat of WWF, 'AKS STYLE'. The eating competition was also another treat as it included Naushad the thinnest but also the winner of this rather strangely held competition. Another treat was a band performance from Bariul and the boys as they gave their side of Metallica's "Unforgiven II". Azam Khan's phenomenal hit "Bangladesh was also a great success. These performances had good instrumental individuality given by Resalat and Shoikot.

The talent show on the whole was a great show and it received great appreciation as people watched everything there was to see. It was brilliant and all of us hope it happens again. It proved that AKS not only has brains & sportmanship, but it also has natural 'talent'.

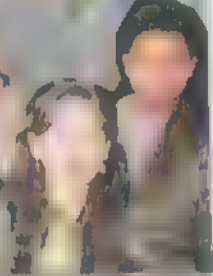

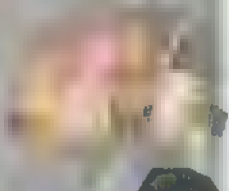

EID PARTY & TOILET SHOW

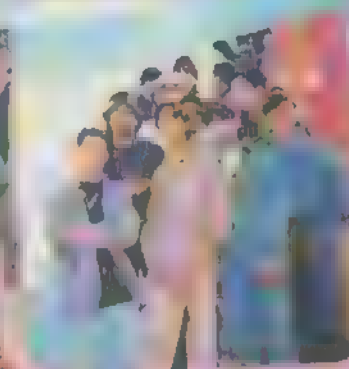

LUNCHEON

THE FIRST LUNCHEON OF THE YEAR

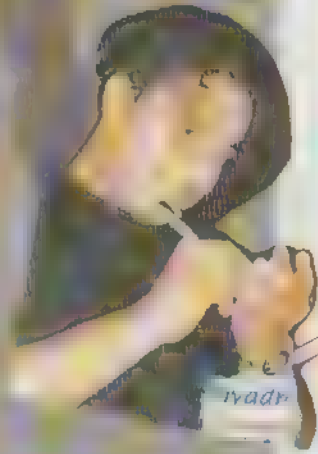

WELCOME

5th February 1998 was one of the most exciting days of the year. It was the first concert ever held in the AKS. The concert featured LRB, and was sponsored by Coca-Cola. It was scheduled to start at 5 in the evening. But the crowd was pouring in from 3. During the evening the crowd was not quite warmed up for hip-shaking. After sun set, the night brought in the devil in every soul. Everyone got up and started grooving and moving. The crowd went wild. The light effects were spectacular. Unlike other concerts in the country, this concert consisted of only the school students with their friends and relatives. So there was no danger of any violence. The concert was organised by Mr. Azam. LRB rocked the night and everybody had a great time, one that they will remember for a long long time

MEENA BAZAAR

The 1998 Meena Bazaar was held on the 26th of September. This was a great event. All the students and visitors of the AKS enjoyed the day. It was fun for everybody, and it also gave experience to many people.

10th ANNIVERSARY

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO AKS, HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO YOU!"

Yes, it was the grand 10th Birthday of our school. We could not just sit back on this great day. So some of our teachers and senior students arranged for a huge ceremony of three whole days to celebrate this great event.

The 10th Anniversary began on the 20th of October. The day was started off by the special guests of the ceremony. On the same day, we had the Open House where the science, business and literature students showed their talents.

The second day had a packed routine. The day was started by the finals of inter-school competition. Then different classes showed their talents in the Talent Show. The next event, Public Speaking Contest, was followed by two dramas arranged by Miss Kirsten and Miss Ruhma. The day was ended by our supermodels in the fashion show.

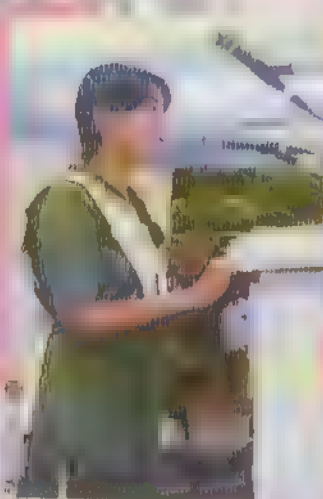

The grand ceremony was rounded off on the third day. After a friendly basketball match with the American School, we sat back and enjoyed the biggest concert in AKS history performed by none other than LRB, Ark and Feelings.

The 10th Anniversary will be cherished by the AKS students, and we tried to collect some of it in the time.

Slam dunk the funk put it up!!!

Yupp! That's the exact phrase to describe the basketball spirit in AKS. Basketball reigns over all sports. Everyday in the recess the courts are filled, with not only stars but also would-be stars of the AKS. The school hosted two tournaments. In the first tournament we hogged the runner-up trophy but could not beat the Gregs who just had better luck. In the second tournament we became one of the finalists.

The AKS had the best team ever and this DREAM TEAM consisted of Tahsin, Nazmul, Nabeel, Sabil, Richard, Fuad, Rahib, Amer, Dastagir, Munakib, Munasir, Shafat, Fahd and it was captained by by the one and only Ahad (the Jr. MJ of AKS).

Charity Club

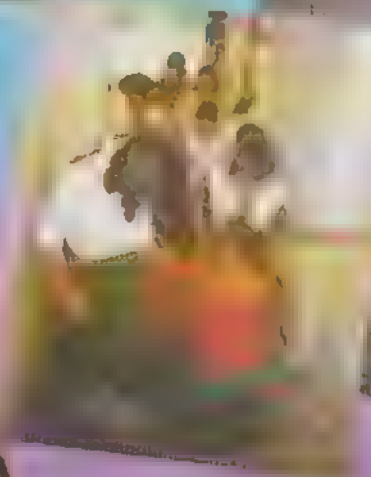

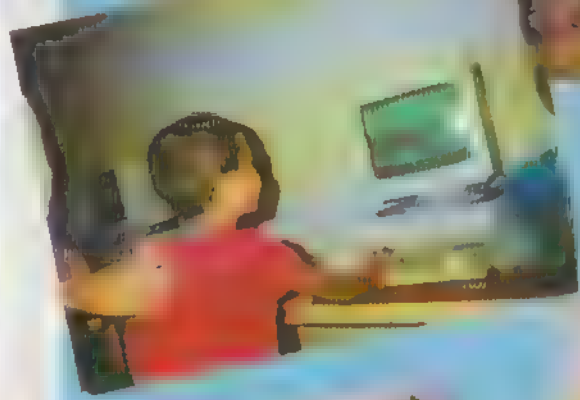

The Charity Club is one of the most oldest and most active clubs in the AKS. With the leadership of Miss Ruhma Choudhury, the Charity club has been really versatile in their ideas. Through programs such as the Bake Sale and other events it has spanned to be the club with the highest number of members.

The most commonly held event organised the Charity Club is the Bake Sale. The Bake Sale usually hosts to students from all over the school, giving them the little treats at cheap prices. The response they get is amazing and the support for this type of events is immense. Bake Sales are arranged by Miss Ruhma and it takes contributions from the members in the club, as well as from non-members who are always there to lend a helping hand. Bake Sales help to make the activities worthwhile for the people contributing through both channels; the ones making and the ones eating. The food they make for the event is great and when people get it for cheap prices, who doesn't buy starting from the sixth graders to the teachers. After the end of the day, like all other organisations enjoying a profit, the Charity Club feasts on the output not sold. In straight they feast their heart out to a job well done.

One of the most consistent activities of the Charity Club is supplying basic materials to a child orphanage in Uttara. Their program is for those kids who are not as fortunate as us in life, who grow up without the help of parents to help them during times of need. Well even though the Charity Club cannot help them overcome that share of grief, but at least they can put a smile on their faces for one day, and bringing a smile to a lonely child is like setting the world alight of all its misery. The orphanage is for those kids who are under aged, and the contributions don't only come from Charity Club members but from the whole school, who sympathise with the situation laid in front of the kids. The contributions range from clothes to toys, to all kinds of other materials. Most of these kids don't get gifts at all but for the day they do, and they realise that they are like every kid on the face of this Earth. A day of that feeling is good, and when you can lend a helping hand, it means a lot to you.

The Charity Club is a club that is unique among the schools, not many schools have the benefit of such a club where the giving spirits are vibrant. People in the club are proud to be in the club as they can help, put smiles on faces. We, the students are always happy to help. The support of a house need not only come from the pillars it holds but from the environment it surfaces beneath those pillars. Our school and the Charity Club have such a relationship. A relationship as beautiful as the smiles of those faces that we help.

Charity Club

A decorative border surrounds the page, featuring a variety of colorful cartoon faces and characters. On the left side, there is a vertical strip with several faces, including a skull-like figure at the top and a boy's face at the bottom. The top and bottom edges of the page are also decorated with horizontal bands of colorful, abstract faces and patterns.

AKS as a helping hand

There stands a man. He has no clothes, no food and no shelter. He is deprived of the necessities of life. Maybe he has lost his family in a curse laid to mankind. He is stripped of his own happiness, happiness swirled away by the waves crashing in of an enemy known too well along time. He is alone, he doesn't know what has happened not because of a lapse in memory, he doesn't know because he doesn't want to remember. That is how his life is, that is how he suffers and so may like him, so many children, wives, daughters, sons, fathers and mothers. And this is how we helped.

Mrs. Nargis Arif has been a teacher in the AKS for a long time, and anyone who is her student knows the generosity that lies within her that is covered by her usual fits of rage upon her students. This lady brought out a brilliant idea while so many were suffering. She decided not to sit back and wait for the tides to crash again, she wished to defeat the tides mentally within her. She decided that each student should give 5kg of rice and 5 kg of pulse at the least and give it to the school. The beginning of the contribution wasn't great but what followed later was a miracle.

All students contributed, that is true, but some contributed immensely to the quantity of the amount needed. Some students brought more than 5 kg and others brought even more. There was this student who was said to bring in 60 kg of rice and that student wasn't the only one, others helped out immensely to make a successful campaign.

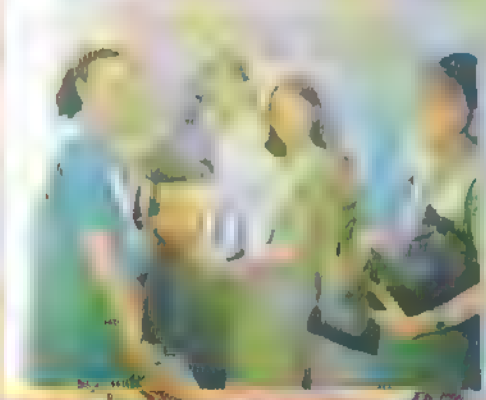

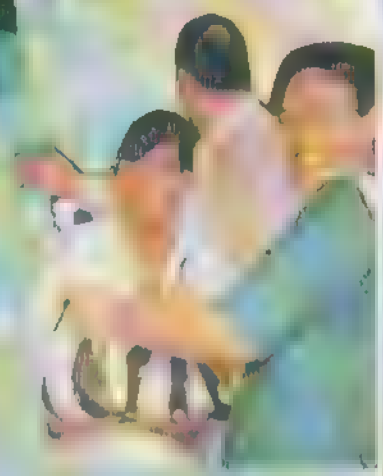

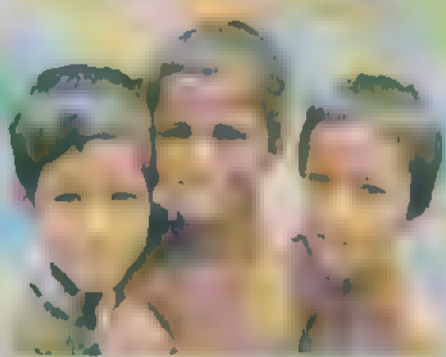

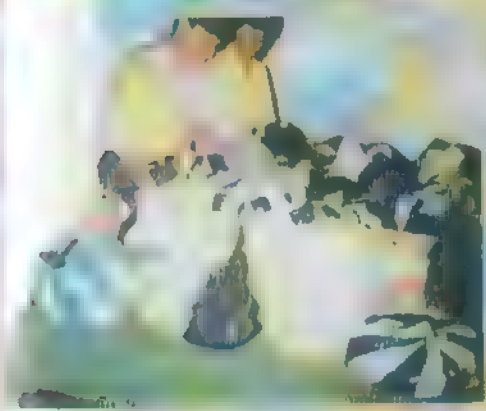

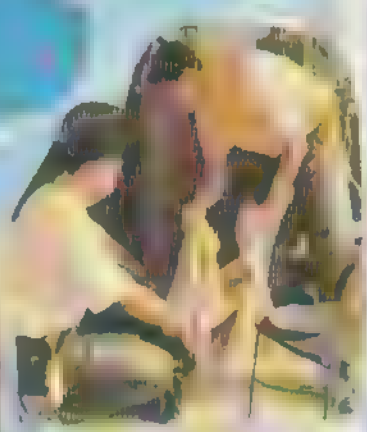

Our school then decided to give the amount they got themselves and to distribute it equally among all the deprived. They did and happiness for one day was produced for the ones without food and clothes and they were frustrated by their loss. For once during these hard times they fought hard and they found a bit of shelter.

The man is not naked anymore, he does have food, shelter but maybe not a fixed heart. Our school helped in the best possible way it could and the results we produced were excellent which means thanks to Miss Nargis for helping and all the students for contributing.

FRIENDSHIP

A friend is a companion in times of loneliness,
An inspirer in times of failure,
A helper at times of hard work,
A well-wisher in times of trial,
A giver in time of need.
A comforter in times of depression,
and a guide in times of trouble.

A friend is a person who shares happiness and
Who is there during your ups and downs.
So, keep friends, look after them, and help them in time of need. Friends are more valuable than gems and pearls.
They are not what money can buy.

A Friend is cool
And never a fool
Gifted from God
Never at odd
Cares about you all the time
Forget him not
Cause that's a crime.

A partner for gossip
A companion while alone
Without friends its like,
A planet without life
A plant without water
A sky without stars
A sleep without dreams
A forest without animals.

FARZANA MAHMUD
Class-(vi-1)

AN UNUSUAL PERSON I MET RECENTLY

She walked into my life just like the wind blows into a windowless house. I have seen her for such a long time but it was recently that I discovered the little flower persisting inside her. She came in and shaped up my life just like a gardener taking care of his precious plants. The thing that is interesting about the person is that she is nice to everyone around her and she can make them feel good about themselves.

We studied together in the same class for the last couple of years. I knew she existed just like many other people and it was recently that I got introduced to the bud of the magical red rose. It was like a fairy tale. I was often abandoned and ignored by my so-called friends. Whenever this happened I became really depressed and started to take irregular turns in taking puffs of smoke.

I was falling apart and my life was getting ruined. There was nothing I found interesting and I felt bored talking to my friends about my problems. My school grades were going down like a stone falling on the ground. I knew it was one of the hardships of living the life of a teenager, but I was too weak to face it.

The person who changed my life has obviously gone through similar situations, but she did not break down like myself. When I came to know her, something inside struck me and I did not treat her like any others. I speculated that she also treated me somewhat differently.

The fact that she was friendly to me made me feel good and my life started to experience another loop. She saw the world through the eyes of a child and appreciated and cherished every moment of her life.

One day we were talking, when I told her about my smoking habits and how much it comforted me. She told me something then that nobody had ever told me before. She told me that smoking was not the ideal thing to do to divert depressions and miseries. I knew it was very harmful, but I was so angry at the cruel world that I deliberately wanted to ruin myself. When I gave her idea a little thought, I realised she was right. My belief in her grew so strong that it persuaded me to stop taking anymore puffs and I vowed never to smoke again.

I guess nothing lasts forever, just like the cold November rains. I knew our friendship would never last forever, but I did not realise that it would start to fade away so soon. She got caught up in her work, and I was getting busy with studies. So we had little time to talk to each other and sometimes I realised that she did not like being with me at all.

Later I realised that she had been a very good friend of mine and that I probably would never get a friend like her again. I tried to help her in whatever way I could and all I expected from her was her gentle touch of kindness. I know that someday our friendship would disappear completely but her friendship is what had made all the difference to my life.

PAIN

I scream inside
Nobody hears me
The pain inside, so tormenting
Very hard to bear
I struggle hard to hide it from others
My eyes lose the strength
Lashes get wet, as tears come down.
Where is its destination?
My mind gets obsessed
Gets aggravated, looks for a medicine—
My heart gets tired
My soul feels dreadful.
Everything compels, goes to such a condition
Where I can't find the answer
The dark horizon visualises in front of me
I stare, contemplate
I hear a convict
No way to remonstrate
The errand starts getting longer
I close my eyes, find that it hurts.

WITCH COCKTAIL

Md. Fahd Ansari (IX-I)

Do not with the cauldron fiddle,
Let the fire burn in the middle.
Dance around the circle of chalk,
Stamp and clamp but do not talk,
Now as you dance, throw our need
And if you think they are weird, they are weird indeed.

The tail of a dog,
And the toe of a frog.
A rotten old log,
And some mist from a fog.

A pair of eyes
And three dead mice
A pouch of lice
All cooked in rice.

A nipped old ear,
And a feather of fear

A drop of tear, and a joke for a cheer.
Now spit inside this mixture of ghastly things,
And also throw in your left-hand rings.

Throw in the snow of a mountain
And the sound of someone in real pain!!!

The power that you will gain.
Finally we have finished our witch cocktail
And thankfully we did not fail.

Now stop dancing around this circle of chalk
And you can put your power to work.

AN ODE TO THE HEART

I write this now, not because I want to express anything or prove anything, but just to keep a promise, made not to you or my family or friends, but to myself.

This morning the sun rose high into the sky, but when I looked, I could see no colours. For me nights have been blended into days, and days have blended into nights. The nights seem endless, and the days fearsome. The rising of the sun or the face of the moon high in the sky holds no meaning for me. I see the rays of sunshine on me, but I cannot feel or touch its warmth. For me, my life has become tedious. I go through the same routine everyday with no feeling or emotion. Inside I feel numb and hollow, as if all of my life has been drained out of me. I see life through the colours of only black and white, not its true colours. I feel like the passenger of a train passing through a dark tunnel with no end in sight.

Dearly beloved, it is at this moment that I reach out for you, and need to be understood by you. I wish to share all my doubts and dream of you in ways I shall dream for no other, the warmth that I feel for you I shall feel for no other, the love that I feel for you I shall feel for no other, the tears that I shed for you I shall shed for no other.

I wait for you in the cold, to come to me with the gift of warmth, care, affection and happiness; one that I have felt for a long time. I wish for you to put your arms around me, and to hold me tight and to protect me against all the horrors of life thrown at me, and to smile on me and bring me hope when I have none. I ask merely for you to hold my hand as I walk down the twisted challenging path of life, and to share my leaps and falls along the way.

I ask only, dear loved one, for a small place in your heart; a place where I can hide away when I wish not to face the problems of growing up, a home from where I know I shall be never be rejected, and the door which will stay open for me forever.

But I know that this is all a fantasy, a dream trying desperately to come true. One day I shall find that special smile belonging to someone else, the twinkling of the eyes gazing down at someone else, and those strong hands aching to touch someone else and the heart calling someone else.

And my little home, given away to someone else, and the name of you, O special one, echoing endlessly through my empty heart and soul, left out in the cold and rain alone, to find my way back home myself.
